

Donnington and Muxton Neighbourhood Development Plan

“Neighbourhood Development Plans are an important part of the planning process because they give local people the power to set local policies that will be used when deciding on planning applications in their communities.

“The council have helped the Donnington and Muxton Parish Council to steer the plan through the process from designating the neighbourhood plan area through to the referendum and on 27 January, people in the parish voted in favour of the plan.

“This means that the Donnington and Muxton Neighbourhood Development Plan will now be formally adopted and used alongside national and borough-wide policy to determine planning applications in the parish.”
