Dear Council

I am objecting to the TPO order being put on the cherry tree in my garden for the following reasons.

Firstly the cherry tree along with the beech trees was put out in as a hedge to stop the horses escaping from the field.

Through neglect of the land owner they then developed into trees.

It prevents natural light in my garden and house also with nuisance leaves for shedding.

The tree is so overgrown it fully takes over the garden many plants and trees are suffering dying and or growing very poorly.

The tree is so close to my house and has overhanging branches which nearly touch the house; it's soon going to be an issue with regards to my house insurance.

The offending tree is lifting the pedestrian path outside my garden on the public walking path and beautiful cobble stones are being replaced by an awful black tarmac as this trees roots have spread onto the walkway.

Surely the mature village road cobble stones have more amenity than an overgrown out of control tree.

The branches overhand the pedestrian path and road which in time will be a hazard.

Putting a TPO on this tree that has outgrown its position, is too close to my property, and is causing actionable nuisance to us.

Regards

Natalie Marsh
